UK Outlook for Monday 22 Nov 2021 to Wednesday 1 Dec 2021:
Moving into this period, a band of rain will work its way southeast across the UK, followed by brighter conditions as well as blustery winds and showers. As the period continues, the weather will generally arrive to the UK from north, bringing colder conditions and intervals of rain or showers. Wintry showers likely over high ground, and possibly falling to low levels at times. High pressure will linger around the west and southwest of the country, allowing for more settled conditions now and again with the chance of some sunny spells at times but also feeling cold, with overnight frost likely. Fairly breezy throughout the period but when any clearer and calmer conditions prevail it will lead to some overnight fog.
